Research Interests: Native American Studies, Borderlands, Middlegrounds, First Contact, Ocean Exploration.

"Karankawa Cannibalism: A Pendulum of Embellishment and Overcorrection," Honors Thesis, 2018

An analysis of Karankawa cannibalism and a critique of historical embellishment and overcorrection.

Research Assistant, Russian, Eastern European, and Eurasian Studies, Dr. David Rainbow, 2018

Collaborated with Dr. David Rainbow in developing the University of Houston REEES website. I created custom graphics; interviewed academics, community members, and students; and managed content through the Wordpress CMS.

“The Karankawa: Beads and Bells,” Research Hub, 2017

The creation of a research hub on the Karankawa people of the Gulf Coast: Karankawas.com. And furthermore, a study of Álvaro Núñez Cabeza de Vaca’s time among the Native Americans he refers to as the Capoque.

“Cossack Revolution,” Symposium Selected Essay, 2017

Understanding the Don Cossack response to the Russian Revolution and the ensuing Russian Civil War.

After School Centers on Education, Activity Coordinator, 2015-2016

Worked with Alvin Junior High students to critically analyze literature such as Sir Gawain and the Green Knight, to outsmart their opponents in chess, and to practice creativity in a game of my own devising (loosely following the format of Dungeons & Dragons) called Brainstorm.
